

Nodes that have two colors with little to no mixing represent two ideas that clash and have conflicting views on events, politics, and other topics. There can be some mixing within the colors and information regarding points in accordance, but colors that overlay will directly represent unmixed, unresolved issues or opinions. Nonetheless, with this I want to show that colors can be mixed; there just hasn't been an effort influential enough for it to happen.